At Hancock supervisors meeting

State's wetland claim equated with communism

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A Hancock County supervisor at a Thursday meeting equated the state's claim to swamp areas purchased by local citizens with communism.

Bert Courrage, District One supervisor, offered that comment in light of the State Bureau of Marine Resources public hearing slated at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday night to air comments regarding a State Department of Natural Resources request to change the Coastal Wetlands Use Plan.

The change would allow the department to lease some 16,000 acres (about 25 sections) of swamp land for oil and gas exploration in southern Hancock which consists of a large portion of District One from Bayou Cadet to Port Blenville Industrial Park.

The hearing will be conducted in the supervisor's second floor meeting room at the Hancock Courthouse in Bay St. Louis.

Mississippi claims all land located 'below the mean high tide' mark based on a Hancock Chancery Court ruling which is now being appealed by Jourdan River private land owners in State Supreme Court.

Courrage stated, "With the state claiming all that land, that's like communism."

He explained most of the land which the state is claiming was purchased in good faith by Hancock citizens who have paid taxes on that property for years or generations.

The supervisor noted the state offers owners of land which is below the tidal mark no payment for the claimed property.

"We need to voice strong objections," Courrage said in urging the supervisors to take a formal position opposing the state action.

Walter Gex, County Board of Supervisors legal counsel, also stated, "All the property in that area that people have paying taxes on for hundreds of years will be taken away and the state is not even paying the back taxes to them."

Gex, whose law firm partner Walter Phillips is one of several attorneys representing Cinque Bambini Partnership of Holly Bluff and other Jourdan River property owners fighting the state in the appeal, reported Mississippi is generally claiming all lands with 'marine vegetation.'

"I think the board ought to be at the hearing to hear this thing (the state's wetland claim). The problem is that the people don't realize what's going on," Gex said regarding Mississippi's claim on private-owned swamp lands.

"The state is arbitrarily drawing a line on a map with a magic marker and saying that's where the state's land is," he stated.

Gex recommended the board delay taking a formal stand until its members had an opportunity to attend the hearing.

Courrage also recommended board members inform state political candidates of the wetland situation and find out their positions regarding that issue since this is an election year.

A.A. (Dolph) Kellar, board president, also suggested the Gulf Coast Legislative Delegation be informed about the wetlands problem.

The state is proposing designating southern Hancock area as a 'special use district—leased wetlands' to allow the oil and gas exploration work.

The only special use district thus far on the Mississippi Gulf Coast is a wetland area near the mouth of Jourdan River which includes property involved in the Cinque Bambini land ownership suit.

The Jourdan district was established

Political forum set for local candidates

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A public political forum sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce has been scheduled for Wed., July 13, 7 p.m. at the American Legion Home, Waveland, according to John Scafile, chamber legislative chairman.

Scafile said, "The chamber will sponsor two forums, the one on July 13 will be for candidates for sheriff, tax collector-assessor, superintendent of education, and board of supervisors in Districts One, Two, Four and Five."

A second forum will also be held at the Legion Home on Coleman Avenue on July 20 for other local candidates.

Charles Gustin, executive director of the chamber, stated, "Persons interested in asking candidates questions for specific offices, should either submit them in writing at the chamber office, or turn them in at the door on the night of the forum."

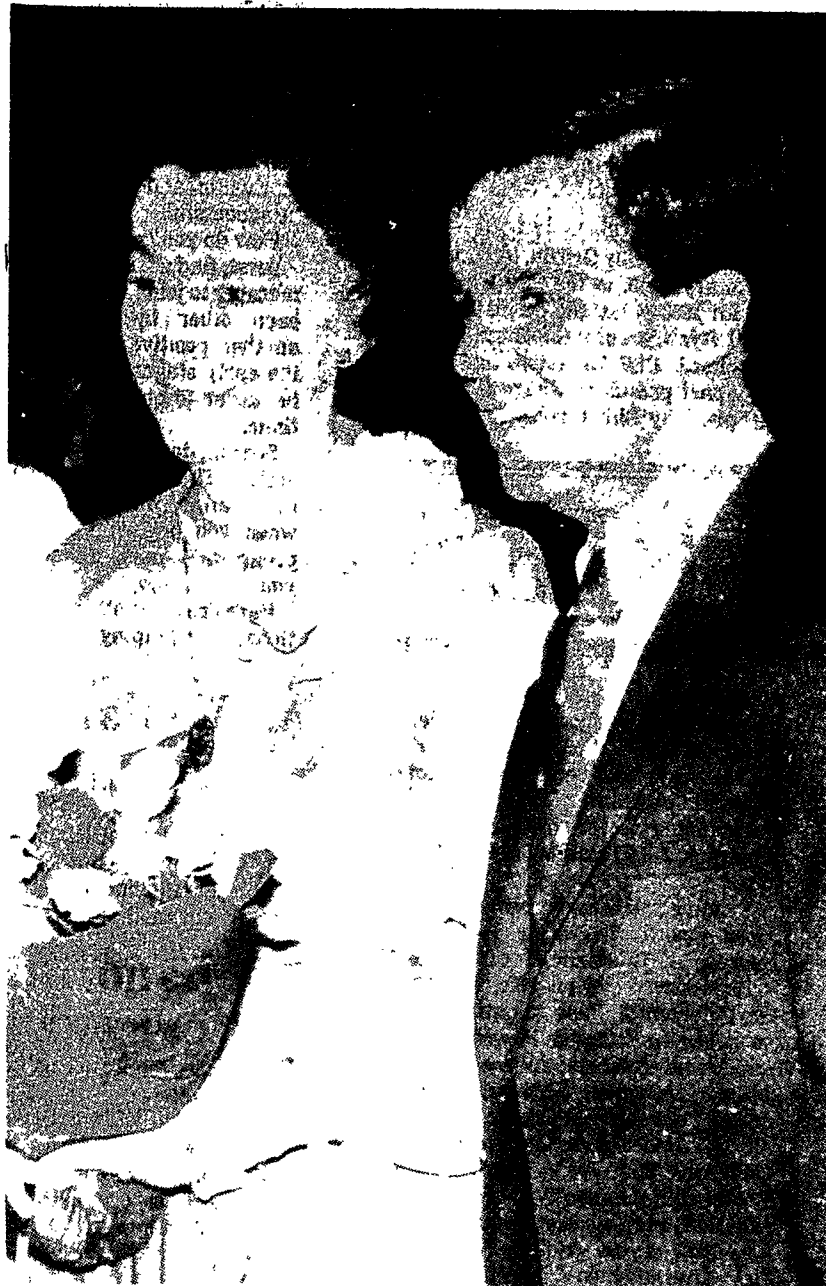

Each candidate will be allowed two minutes to express themselves, prior to answering the pre-submitted questions concerning the office they are seeking.

There will be a screening committee to review and place submitted questions to the specific offices before they are submitted to the candidates.

Scafile said, "The main reason for the forums, are to give the candidates an opportunity to express to the citizens of Hancock County, the issues they feel are important in the upcoming election."

The chamber's address is, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 103, Bay St. Louis, Miss. 39520, for persons wanting to submit questions by mail.

Mrs. Gustin added, "We hope there will be many persons attending the forum, as well as the candidates for the specific offices for the first forum."

SPECIAL HONORS—Mrs. Emily deMontluzin, left, is congratulated by Keith Folse, who was one of the former students and friends honoring her at a special reception Thursday. Mrs. deMontluzin recently retired as a Latin and French teacher from Bay Senior High. Folse, Kathy Bosely Ginn, Melissa Lagarde Brannin, and Belinda Hill Durbin were among the students and friends who planned the reception which was held at Christ Episcopal's Virginia Hall. A plaque was presented to Mrs. deMontluzin from the trustees of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District by Mrs. Betty Diboll, trustee; certificates of appreciation from the City of Bay St. Louis by Wilmer Seymour, councilman-at-large; and the City of Waveland by Bob Hubbard, alderman. A foreign language scholarship has been set up at Hancock Bank in honor of Mrs. deMontluzin. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Engineers report deep 'hole' filled

The Mobile District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, has announced completion of contract work for bottom contour reconstruction of an area known as the "hole" just offshore in the Mississippi Sound near Waveland.

Paul Warren, head of the District's Mobile Area Office, said final contract work was completed June 26 by MCM Dredging Service, Inc. of Omaha, Neb. The contractor began work March 15, with actual dredging beginning Apr. 24.

The project was designed to level out the bottom of the Mississippi Sound near Buccaneer State Park in Waveland, rearranging the bottom surface to a natural slope from landward side to seaward side.

Warren said the Corps will continue survey monitoring until next April to assure that the recontouring of the bottom in this area remains intact.

The area of the "hole" claimed some 25 lives due to drowning in recent years.

Have a safe and happy holiday, say officials

By JUNE M. HEYDT

The Gulf Coast Waste and disposal routes are being run as normally scheduled on Monday, July 4 in Bay St. Louis.

Trucks will be run earlier due to normally light loads on holidays so, to avoid being missed, garbage should be out by 6:30 a.m., a city hall spokesman announced.

There will be no garbage pickup in Waveland on July 4, according to Mayor John Longo. But, he said, pickup will be on Tuesday and again on Friday.

Longo also noted, "Play it safe during the holiday and remember the baby law," which he said means, "Keep your child in a seat belt or safety chair while driving. Have a nice holiday, but a safe one," Longo concluded.

Sam Perniciaro, District Four supervisor, said, "I hope everyone will have a good holiday. Be careful and remember not to drive while drinking." He also reminded residents and visitors that July 1 is when the new law on DUI's goes into effect.

The new law requires anyone suspected of driving under the influence of alcohol or any other substance that might impair his driving ability to submit to a chemical test. If he refuses to take the test, his drivers license may be suspended for 90 days.

If a person is convicted of DUI after refusing to take the test, he faces a maximum penalty of a $1,000 fine and a year in prison in addition to the suspension.

If the test shows a blood alcohol content of at least .10 percent the first offender may expect a trial. The maximum penalty is a $500 fine or 24 hours in jail, or both, and completion of an alcohol safety education program.

Also, his license will be suspended for 90 days or until he completes the alcohol safety education program, whichever is longer.

All post offices will be closed Monday, July 4. However, at the Bay St. Louis Post Office, the First Class mail will be put up by 10 a.m. and mail will be dispatched according to times posted on the collection boxes and at 5 p.m. from the Post Office, according to Tom Hill, postmaster. There will be no dispatch from any of the other Hancock County post offices.

Landfill site to undergo functional improvements

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Sam Perniciaro, District Four supervisor, has announced that through the recommendation of the Mississippi Department of Natural Resources, Bureau of Pollution Control, the Hancock County landfill located near the Catahoula community will be improved.

"A major problem which needs immediate action is the continued burning of wastes at the site. To prevent the burning, access to the site will be controlled to prohibit dumping or unauthorized entry to the disposal area," said Perniciaro.

"By controlling access to the site, we hope to eliminate or at least minimize the problem of burning," Perniciaro added.

Perniciaro also noted that another improvement to be put into effect is the operation of the facility. He said the working space is much too large for the landfill operator to be able to handle efficiently in his day-to-day operation. This area will be cut at least in half."

Perniciaro also noted that a gate, chain or some other type of access control will be located at the entrance along with a sign posting the operation hours at the site.

"What we are trying to do," said Perniciaro, "is to reduce the large area of

Stolen airplane found at Diamondhead Airport

By ELLIS CUEVAS

An airplane reportedly stolen from a Charleston, South Carolina, airport landed at the Diamondhead Airport on Tuesday, according to Alvin Ladner, Hancock County investigator.

Ladner said, "Ed Geiser, manager of Diamondhead Airport called the sheriff's office on Thursday reporting the possibility of having a stolen craft."

"The plane, a 1982 Cessna 172 RG, when checked, was found to be owned by David and Sandra Eliss of Charleston, S.C. It was reported as being stolen on June 23," Ladner added. The investigator stated, "Geiser was told by the pilot who landed on Tuesday, that he would be back in two days. The pilot then left the airport with a person waiting for him in an auto."

The case is still under investigation by the Hancock County and Charleston, S.C. sheriff's departments in addition to U.S. Customs agents.

"The reason for U.S. Customs agents' involvement is because it was the fourth plane stolen at the Charleston Airport, and they believe the stolen planes may be used in drug traffic," Ladner allowed.

In other police activities, Ladner said a total of six persons were arrested in Hancock County on July 1 for Driving Under the Influence, the day of the new DUI law in Mississippi went into effect.

LET'S HEAR IT FOR THE ANIMALS—Mayor John Longo cuts the ribbon officially opening the new Hancock County Animal Shelter on Saturday at 10 a.m. The facility, located behind the Waveland Fire Department on Gulfside Drive, will not charge for adoption of pets. However, the animal commission would like a guarantee from the adopter that their new pet will receive his shots. Among those attending are from left, Louis Smolensky, Waveland alderman; A.A. University Medical Center suggests regular exercise

Q. I know I should exercise regularly for good health. But how do I get started?

A. Jogging several miles a day three or four days a week sounds like the ideal way to keep fit. And it is, for many people. However, getting started and following through with jogging or any other good exercise program can be a difficult habit to establish.

Why? Aerobic exercises that condition the cardiovascular system require motivation and persistence to be successful.

How do you get started?

First, find a friend or family member to join you. Reinforce each other by giving one another positive feedback in the early stages when it may be easier to quit than to continue.

Second, don't overdo any exercise. The aches and pains that can result - especially when you begin an exercise program - may discourage you.

Here are some other suggestions for helping you get through those early stages:

—Establish a realistic goal and set limits as to how far you can jog or swim or bicycle, for instance. Start out at short distances at a low pace and gradually build up. This way, you're more likely to stick to it.

—Exercise at the same time of day each time. Your exercise program then becomes a part of your daily schedule. Think of it as being as important as brushing your teeth or eating meals.

—Reward yourself occasionally for staying with your program.

Many people who exercise regularly find it useful to keep a log of their progress. It may motivate you to continue if you see in writing how far and how long you're running, for example. Keep tabs on your weight, how you look and how you feel after a week, two weeks or a month.

How do you know if your cardiovascular system is benefiting from your exercise program? Take your pulse before you exercise. As your program gets under way, you should notice a gradual decrease in your resting pulse rate. This means your heart is working more efficiently.

To achieve cardiovascular conditioning, exercise regularly, do the right kinds of exercises - such as jogging, brisk walking if you are older, swimming or bicycling - and do them for a long enough period.

Jogging for instance, is an inexpensive sport. All that is required is running shoes. What's more it's far better for cardiovascular conditioning than golf and even tennis.

Remember, though, if you're over 40 and have led a sedentary life in recent years, you should not take up strenuous activity until you have been examined by your family physician.

Readers may suggest topics by writing to "Matters of Health", The University of Mississippi Medical Center, 2500 North State Street, Jackson, MS 39216.

The intersection has been the site of several traffic deaths and injuries during the last few years.

Perniciaro said the state plans to install new signs, reflectors and some 250-feet in guard rails at the intersection.

Hancock's jobless rate remains at 13.4 percent

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County's unemployment rate remains at the highest level ever recorded based on current Mississippi Employment Service figures.

The jobless rate remained at 13.4 percent in May which was the same figure reported for the previous month, employment service reports show.

During those two months some 1,300 Hancock civilian residents could not find work, but the labor force figure of 9,730 for April was reduced by 20 in May, the figures indicate.

The only time the jobless rate neared the present high level was with 12.9 percent in February and 12.8 percent in Nov., 1977.

Hancock's unemployment rate again exceeds state and national figures for May which are 11.9 and 9.8 percent, respectively.

Mississippi's unemployment rate reflects an increase of four-tenths of a percentage point compared to April's 11.5 percent jobless rate. O. H. Simmons, Mississippi Employment Security Commission executive director reports.

Last year's May unemployment rate was 10.6 percent, he says.

MESC figures show 126,200 unemployed and 936,800 employed out of a statewide civilian labor force of 1,063,000.

Initial unemployment insurance claims totalled 20,527 in May, Simmons reports.

Some 64 of the state's 82 counties report unemployment rates of 10 percent or higher in May. Of that number three counties had unemployment rates of 20 percent or above, he says.

Counties with the highest unemployment rates in May are Stone with 24.2, George with 23, and Greene with 20 percent, Simmons lists.

Randkin, Issaquena, Choctaw, and Yalobusha Counties had the lowest jobless rates in May with 6.5, 7.2, and 8 percent, respectively, he reports.

Some 50 counties show an increase in unemployment rates from April to May, 29 report decreases and the jobless rate in three counties remained the same, Simmons adds.

ETV Brief

MAJOR SERIES

A major new children's series on ETV aims at offsetting the "Summer Loss phenomenon" when young children lose some of their newly acquired reading skills.

"Reading Rainbow," hosted by LeVar Burton, can be seen at 9:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., weekdays beginning Monday, July 11, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

Each program uses a magazine-style format to highlight one feature book each show. Guest narrators include James Earl Jones, Lily Tomlin, Lou Rawls, Madeline Kahn, Vincent Gardenia, Maya Angelou, Ruth Buzzi and Michael Ansara.

The theme of each book is expanded through animation, music, dramatizations and field trips to such varied places as Dinosaur National Park or the Crow Indian Reservation in Montana.

The first program on July 11 features "Tight Times" by Barbara Shook Hazen and illustrated by Trina Schart Hyman. "Tight Times" is the touching story of a little boy who wants a pet at a time when his family can't afford it.

A copy of "Reading Rainbow Gazette," the children's book that accompanies the series, may be obtained by sending a money order for $2, payable to Mississippi ETV, and a return address to Reading Rainbow, Education Division, P. O. Drawer 1101, Jackson, MS 39205.

Bramlett eyes republican nomination for governor

Leon Bramlett, 60, announces his candidacy for the office of governor.

A native of Clarksdale he attended the University of Mississippi and the University of Alabama before entering the United States Naval Academy in 1943.

Upon graduation from the Naval Academy he married Virginia McGeehee of Greenville and then served as a commissioned officer in the U.S. Marine Corps until 1949.

He returned to Clarksdale in 1949 to enter the family business of farming and cotton ginning.

As a businessman and farmer he became involved in state and community affairs. He presided as State Democratic Chairman and served as Coahoma County Democratic Chairman. He was a vice-president of the Delta Council in 1971, and vice-chairman of the Mississippi Marketing Council from 1968 to 1972.

Bramlett serves as an agriculture advisor to Special Trade Representative Bill Brock. He serves on the board of trustees of the North Mississippi Medical Center, the board of the U.S. Naval Academy Foundation, and is an elder in The First Presbyterian Church of Clarksdale.

Bramlett says, "One of my highest priorities as Governor will be to implement policies that encourage growth and expansion of the Mississippi economy."

"Mississippi has all the basic tools we need to be a competitive economic power, including industrious people and abundant natural resources. What we do not have, and what I will bring to own growth and development in our state."

"Virtually every segment of our economy will benefit from an improved transportation system," Bramlett continued.

"As the American economy shifts much of its emphasis from production to services, Mississippi needs to be poised to take advantage of the growth opportunities presented. New high technology firms are being created almost daily, and far too few of them are locating in Mississippi because we have done nothing to encourage them to locate here," said Bramlett.

"We must also upgrade the requirements we place on high school graduates. In far too many cases, high school diplomas have been awarded to students who lack even the most basic skills necessary to survive in contemporary society. It should not be terribly puzzling to us that many of our young people can't find jobs when many of them are unable to even fill out job applications or read the want ads."

Bramlett concluded saying, "Finally, we must focus our public education on the basic skills such as reading, writing, math, and science. As our society grows more complex, and greater skills are demanded of all of us, proficiency in communications, mathematics, and natural and computer sciences will be expected of virtually all our public high school graduates. It is incumbent on us to see that our young people acquire the skills necessary to get and keep good jobs. This way, we can insure our children are able to run the computers, not just sweep around them."

the Mississippi Statehouse, is a coherent state policy that encourages economic growth.

Bramlett stated, "Mississippi's transportation system is the heart and soul of our economy. Presently, that transportation system is in a widespread state of disrepair, and getting worse by the day. Until our streets, highways, and bridges are brought up to standard, firms both large and small will continue to view them as a roadblock to their

State Education Department

The State Department of Education is currently accepting applications for the emergency food assistance program. Under this program, part of the recently passed federal jobs bill, commodities will be distributed to cooperative emergency feeding facilities.

John H. Walker, assistant director of the SDE's Division of Administration and Finance, says the program is limited to those providing prepared food to needy persons for consumption in a group setting.

"Eligible organizations would be public entities such as city or county units and private non-profit organizations with IRS tax exempt status," said Walker. "Participating agencies must also have a certificate of approval from the State Board of Health to operate the feeding facility."

Walker says over $100,000 has been allocated for the program in Mississippi. "We expect about 21 carloads of food, including canned meats, fruits, vegetables, tuna and salmon. Time is of the essence in this program, since the deadline for ordering commodities is September 30, 1983."

These foods may be used through December 31, 1983. He says eligible organizations receive cash reimbursement for storage and preparation costs of the commodities used, up to but not to exceed five percent of the USDA value.

Organizations interested in participating in this program should contact Walker at P.O. Box 771, Jackson, MS 39206, or call 352-8480 for more information.

Dillard seeks office of attorney general

W.O. "Chet" Dillard announces his candidacy for attorney general, stating that his background and experience qualifies him for the position.

Dillard, 52, who is a former commissioner of public safety, special chancery judge, district attorney, and city prosecutor, said that we need the strongest enforcement of the law and the least leniency by the courts concerning drug enforcement.

"Mississippi's drug problem affects thousands of our young people annually. We must stop the drug pusher, for when one of our young people is destroyed by drugs, a part of our future is destroyed," said Dillard.

Dillard also said he would take a stand to keep the storage of nuclear waste out of our state. He also said we must concern ourselves with victim's rights.

"For too long, we have put too much emphasis on the rights of the criminal and forgotten about the victims of the crime," Dillard continued.

There are many big events on the scene this long weekend.

One of the annual big events is the St. Rose DeLima Catholic Church Fair which continues through tonight. We know parishioners like Geraldine Lang and many others have been busy getting everything ready for the annual event which is held at St. Rose DeLima's school grounds across from the church on Necaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

Several softball games are scheduled to start at noon today followed by the fair opening at 7 p.m.

If you are out for a drive, you may want to stop by and try a hamburger or cool off with a snowball.

It was such a lovely evening Thursday, for a much deserving lady, when Mrs. Emily deMontluzin was honored with a reception.

It was heart warming to see so many young people express their gratitude to a former teacher who really touched the lives of so many persons in our area.

When someone is honored, and persons are on hand from as far away as Alaska, you know they are really extra special.

We wish to express our thanks to the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School System's school trustees, for the beautiful plaque given to Mrs. deMontluzin.

The governing bodies of the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, presented special proclamations and certificates of appreciation.

The many friends and students of Mrs. deMontluzin who worked so hard to make the reception a tremendous success will always be remembered.

Those who made contributions to the scholarship fund which has been set up in honor of Mrs. deMontluzin at Hancock Bank are sure the money will be used to help further the education of deserving students in the years to come.

It was so good that Dr. Loraine deMontluzin, herself a teacher, and daughter of the honored, was able to witness the expressions of appreciation extended to her mother.

In her retirement, we, like so many other friends and former students, wish her well in the travels ahead.

Have a safe July 4th.

State Troopers enforcing new drunk driving laws

The Mississippi Highway Patrol is out in force during this 78-hour Fourth of July holiday, the first weekend under the state's new drunken driving law.

Persons who have become accustomed to driving after using alcohol, drugs or any other substance that impairs one's ability to drive will do well to refrain from doing so after July 1 especially if they have been convicted of DUI since July 1, 1981.

Col. Donald Butler, chief of the Mississippi Highway Patrol, said state troopers will be strictly enforcing the new DUI law in an effort to keep drunk drivers from killing innocent people the way they did over the Fourth of July celebration last year.

He said last year's observance proved to be the most deadly 1982 holiday for traffic fatalities in Mississippi.

He said 15 people died in 11 accidents. Four of the 11 wrecks were caused by alcohol drinking vehicle operators, leaving five people dead. Manslaughter charges were filed in at least two of the four cases.

"We want to get the drunk before he gets somebody else. After the first (of July) we will have the law to do it with and we will be taking licenses on the spot from drivers under the influence," Butler said.

He said persons who have been convicted of DUI since July 1, 1981, will spend at least 48 hours in jail, be fined up to $1,000 and can lose their driver license for two years.

First offenders will be assessed a fine of up to $500, have their driver license suspended for one year, ordered to spend at least 10 hours in a Mississippi Alcohol Safety Education Program (MASEP) school and could be sent to jail for 24 hours.

First offenders who attend a MASEP school will have their license suspended for 90 days rather than one year.

Anyone convicted of DUI three times in five years will be sentenced to jail for 30 days to one year, fined up to $1,000 and have their license suspended for three years.

Fast police action on high school burglary commended

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, MS 39520

Dear Editor:

On the night of June 21 there was an entry and robbery in the locked storage room of our fenced-in garage area.

When we discovered the disarray in the storage room there was every evidence of burglary — we phoned the Bay St. Louis Police Department at 9:30 a.m., within ten minutes three officers were on the scene for an investigation.

A quick visual inventory check led to the conclusion that tools and merchandise missing was valued at about $1,000.

At 9:30 a.m. on June 23, the police department advised us that some of the stolen equipment and tools had been recovered. The recovered items far exceeded our quick inventory report and the actual value was $1,500.

Entry was made by some devious way and locked cabinets were pried open. The Bay St. Louis Police acted as professionals; they were courteous, cooperative and thorough.

We are grateful to them.

Sincerely,
Brother Martin, SC

Lady Liberty needs our help

Since its dedication in 1886, the Statue of Liberty has been our inspirational 'official greeter' to countless millions of immigrants, visitors and returning tourists to our shores.

Now, Lady Liberty needs our help. National Park Service engineers say Miss Liberty is in alarming shape.

The intricate web of 2,000 iron armature bars, hidden beneath the hand-hammered copper skin, have deteriorated over the decades since they were designed by French engineer Alexandre Gustave Eiffel.

And the 200,000-pound copper skin itself has thinned to pollutants and acid rain. Pieces of the torch have fallen into New York Harbor; the torch and portions of the right arm may even have to be replaced.

Instead of going to Congress for funds to restore this priceless treasure, President Reagan is asking the American public to join in a national effort to rescue her—and rededicate the nation to the values she represents.

The 151-foot figure was not built with government money. The people of France raised the two-million francs (then, 400,000), so sculptor Frederic August Bartholdi could devote nine years to Lady Liberty's creation.

Meanwhile, in the United States a similar private effort raised the $101,091 for the pedestal; 80 percent of this came in donations of less than a dollar.

At President Reagan's request, Chrysler Corporation Chairman Lee Iacocca has agreed to coordinate the new grassroots fundraising campaign (Contributions to The Statue of Liberty—Ellis Island Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 1980, New York, New York 10018, are tax deductible). The 20-member advisory commission also includes Bob Hope and Douglas Fraser, former president of the United Auto Workers.

This "Save the Statue of Liberty Commission," according to an article in the July Reader's Digest, has expanded its effort to include nearby Ellis Island.

Almost two-thirds of those who emigrated to the United States came through Ellis Island, which has fallen into ruin since it was closed in 1954. The commission is now investigating the restoration of Ellis Island's historic sites along with the Statue of Liberty. The estimated cost for the joint project is $230 million.

The official fundraising hadn't even begun when the U.S. public began to respond. Bridgeport, Connecticut, had suffered a tragic pre-Christmas 1982 fire at its toy center for poor children—Christmas Village. And people from around the nation donated enough money to rebuild the center.

In lieu of thank you letters, the city raised $3,600, all from nickels, dimes, and quarters contributed by schoolchildren. This was then donated to help restore Lady Liberty.

An elementary school in Hightstown, New Jersey, organized a festival, releasing hundreds of red, white and blue balloons asking finders to write for information about the statue. They also raised $200 selling cookies and turned this over to the restoration effort.

With the generous help of the American people, we will be assured that the Lady will still be lifting her "lamp beside the golden door" as she did for the last century's "huddled masses yearning to breathe free."

Struggle and strife marked early days of Humane Society, past president reports

Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

Because there were many inaccuracies in the front page article of June 30, 1983, entitled "New Animal Shelter to Open Its Doors to the Homeless," I am writing this letter to try to bring out a few of the truths.

I am sure Mr. Cel Dumestre gave credit to as many people that he knew of when he was quoted, but as he did not come into the society until 1978 or 1979, he does not know anything of its early history.

"The idea for the shelter was kicked off about four years ago" is totally wrong. The idea began ten years ago when officers and members began haunting county and municipalities meetings asking, pleading for help with a new shelter as the two old ones in operation were inhumane.

There are many people, both the politicians and citizens, who would groan when they attended these meetings and saw the same faces day in and day out, repeating the same phrase "a fair deal for the animals."

Many of the faithful who attended these meetings are dead now. They worked for years to get help.

People like Larry Lavoie, Marion Oiestad, Bernie Rheame, they were the backbone of the society, tireless, dedicated souls.

No, Mr. Dumestre, a mere four years ago the light could be seen at the end of the tunnel. It was the months, the years before that when we took the abuse, insults, ridicule, name calling, being ignored, had charges filed against us, put in court, our lives were threatened, we received anonymous calls promising to run us out of town.

And these were the good things. As the second president of the society, I helped with investigations of cruelty cases. It was not easy. When trying to retrieve a horse that belonged to the society, I was charged with trespassing and hauled into court.

All of us who worked in the early days were subjected to humiliation and embarrassments that were undeserved. Plus, getting involved in seeing the cruelty that was heaped on animals was exceptionally hard to take.

I still have at my home one little poodle that was almost dead when I got her in my possession. This poodle and three other dogs are my mementoes of my days in the society.

Only one who has gone extensively into work like this knows the time, money and care that went into getting these animals well and healthy.

To say that "Mrs. Charles Cantrell gave the initial money to begin the organization" is not exactly accurate. While this good lady did continue in her lifetime to donate equipment and cash gifts, that initial money was only $100.

However, with the dogs we were caring for in our homes long before we

ELECTION OF 1983

Twenty-first century history books may very well look back to 1983 and proclaim, "This was the most important election of a governor in Mississippi in the 20th century."

Mississippi's Education Reform Act of 1982, said a recognized scholar, "may be the most important education legislation enacted in the United States in the past 15 years."

What the act actually does is that it provides Mississippi and Mississippians the opportunity to reach for excellence in education.

And could it have come at a better time than when a national study committee is crying out that "The educational foundations of our society are being eroded by a rising tide of mediocrity that threatens our future as a nation and a people."

The Education Reform Act of 1982 provides Mississippians an opportunity to improve the quality of public school instruction, to enrich the elementary and the secondary school curriculum, and to strengthen the requirements of accreditation of schools.

Various task forces are created by the act to lay the groundwork for these reforms. But the working teams largely pass their recommendations on to the new, predominantly lay state board of education. And the state board makes the policy decisions and instructs the state superintendent, whom it will appoint, to implement the policies.

But who appoints the majority of the members of the board of education? The Governor — the Governor who will be elected in 1983.

If we believe that improvements in education are essential to our state and to its citizens, then it becomes obvious: The 1983 election of the Governor may be the most important election in Mississippi in the 20th century.

were incorporated, that money did not last long. We used our own money, Mr. Dumestre, we worked on fund raising projects and we pleaded for donations.

The New Orleans citizens were invaluable in assisting us. One ad in The Times-Picayune, with a write-up in Maud O'Bryan's column brought us checks that kept us going for weeks. That is how the society began, not by a lump sum donation but by hand to mouth.

The statement that Mr. Dumestre joined the society in 1972 with his main purpose to help build a decent shelter for these animals, is the worst error of all.

In 1972 the ground work was just beginning for the forming of the society. It took close to a year of continual letter writing, seeking advice from the American Humane Association, the Humane Society of the United States, trips to Jackson, calls to attorneys, meetings, letters and visits to established societies and untold red tape to introduce the idea of a humane society in a county as old as Hancock.

Just the mention of such an organization was not well received (and I am putting this mildly and kindly) and not at all popular.

Hancock County, we were often told, did not want or need such a society. It had done well without one since its inception and would continue to do so.

We did not agree that it had done well so we continued our laying of the foundation despite tremendous odds. It was a monumental selling job and the challenge of ages.

It was not until February 25, 1973, that the organizational meeting was held. Then came the application for the charter from the Secretary of State.

So, how could Mr. Dumestre join a society in 1972 that did not exist until 1973?

Larry Lavoie was our first president. I was second, Jim Widmark was third. Before one gives out information to the press about the Bay-Waveland Humane Society, or anything else for that matter, one should be factual.

There are many people who worked in the founding days who were ignored in this article of June 30, people who worked hard and long for the success of the society.

When you do not know all the facts or the list is too long to name everyone, it is a better policy not to name only a few because those omitted are hurt.

As a charter member of the society I remember the early days and the people who worked so hard to achieve what is now a reality. To them and all who helped I say congratulations.

It seems that there is now an adequate humane shelter for the animals of Hancock County. I only hope that the Society and the Hancock County Animal Control Commission will see to it that it is properly maintained so that it is a credit to the animals and those who worked ten years to achieve it.

Best wishes
Mrs. Marie Hord

Pittman seeking office of attorney general

Edwin Lloyd Pittman, 48, has announced his candidacy for the position of attorney general.

Pittman, a life-long resident of Forrest County, received a B.S. degree in history and government from the University of Southern Mississippi in 1957 and a J.D. degree from the University of Mississippi School of Law in 1960.

He is a member of the South Central Mississippi and American Bar Associations and served in the state senate for eight years.

Pittman served as state treasurer from 1976 to 1980 and was elected secretary of state in 1979, the office he now holds.

He is married to the former Barbara Peel of Greenwood and are the parents of three children, Melanie, 24; Win, 20; and Jennifer, 14.

Pittman says, "The attorney general's office plays a key role in the major issues affecting our people and a key role in the management of the state's business affairs."

"My experience as a state senator, state treasurer, and secretary of state will insure the people that they have a qualified, knowledgeable, and experienced attorney general working on their behalf."

Pittman continued, "I will place major emphasis on hard nosed enforcement of our drug laws. The drug pusher must be jailed. I will work to see that they are."

"I will back up the police officer, the district attorney, and the county attorney in seeing that the sentence of the court is carried out."

"We must be hard on the violent criminal. Sure punishment is a sure deterrent to crime."

"I will work with the state auditor and the local district attorney to eradicate corruption wherever it exists."

Pittman said, "I will work to see that our people are treated fairly by utilities and business and by their government. It is important that the attorney general represent the public interest before all regulatory agencies."

Concluding Pittman said, I will be a constant, vigilant guard of the public good."

Charles Tillman seeks agriculture position

Charles J.D. Tillman, 43, a resident of Franklin County, and community development specialist and researcher in the Cooperative Extension Program at Alcorn State University, recently announced his candidacy for Commissioner of Agriculture.

Tillman says he believes in fair weights and measures for woodcutters, owners and buyers. "Pulpwood haulers have no standard weights," according to Tillman.

"If elected I would like to develop a program to help small farmers buy fertilizer and seeds at a reduced cost, find new crops for exporting so that farming can be profitable, and organize an advisory committee of farmers for the State Fair Board."

Tillman was born and reared on a diversified farm in Franklin County and educated in the public school system. He received his doctorate degree from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Bloomington, Indiana and a bachelor's degree from Alcorn State University.

"I will organize small county groups to keep me informed on local matters," Tillman stated.

He said, "I will work with all the people and seek a good working relationship between agriculture and industry."

Why Cono Caranna is running for District Attorney.

All over Hancock County, people are losing their trust in our legal system.

There's too much crime. We hear of questionable plea-bargaining deals that put criminals back on our streets. We watch as the federal government investigates our public officials.

Cono Caranna wants to restore the public's trust in our legal system. As District Attorney, he will.

A PROVEN LEADER.

Cono Caranna has the knowledge and experience to be our next District Attorney.

As City Attorney for Biloxi, he's worked in law enforcement for over 10 years. Helping coordinate investigations. Advising police on points of law. Building solid cases.

He served as a Commissioner on the Mississippi Bar for 3 years — elected by the Attorneys of Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties. He's seen first-hand the problems in the District Attorney's office. And he's ready to do something about them.

LET'S ELECT CONO CARANNA.

Cono Caranna wants to restore honesty and integrity to the office of District Attorney.

On August 2, let's elect Cono Caranna, District Attorney.

Gilbert seeking position of next state treasurer

William L. Gilbert, 51, announces his candidacy for the office of state treasurer.

Gilbert, a native of Hinds County, and his wife, Clara, have two children, John and Linda, both graduates of Mississippi State University.

He is a graduate of University of Southern Mississippi, B.S. degree in economics and accounting. He has 25 years experience in accounting and business.

Gilbert is a member of the Methodist Church, a Mason, V.F.W., American Legion and a Korean War Veteran.

Gilbert says, "I am running for treasurer because I care about Mississippi. I love this land, our people, our traditions, our values."

"Like you, I am deeply concerned about the direction of our state. Our state is faced with many crises. We need strong concerned leaders with the courage to speak up for our people."

Leaders that really care about average citizens. I will provide strong leadership on all issues concerning our people."

"We must unite Mississippi in a fresh new spirit, in a fresh new approach, in a new leadership that will benefit every man, woman and child in this state."

TIMBERLINE

By David Watts
Hancock County Forester

A fairly recent issue of "Forest and People" magazine contained an article on the elements and importance of a simple timber management plan. I want to share the highlights of that article with you in this edition of Timberline.

FOREST

MANAGEMENT PLAN
All timberland owners interested in farming their trees for a crop are in essence planning for the future, and more and more of them are planning with a written forest management plan.

Forest management plans are the basis on which decisions about woodlands are made. The plan prevents the landowner from making hasty decisions which could prove to be costly mistakes.

It enables the timber grower to allocate his time and financial resources most economically to obtain maximum timber production and returns from his forest land.

A good forest management plan will first state clearly the objectives the owner has for his land; then it will make proposals which have a reasonable chance, both physically and economically, of being accomplished.

The plan is based on data gathered from the timber grower's own forest land. This data is analyzed on the basis of the owner's objectives, the management practices needed and timber markets. Then a workable management plan is written.

Each plan is unique since it is formulated for the specific needs of the landowner and his forestland.

Basic points generally included in the plan are:

—A basic inventory of the timber stand.

—A map showing boundaries, streams, roads and other improvements and timber types.

—An estimate of growth rates.

—An evaluation of site index or timber capability.

—An estimate or evaluation of income and its potential.

—A description of stand conditions by timber type.

—Recommendations regarding needed management practices.

—Sample timber sale contract.

Practices which may be recommended in the plan include fire and pest protection, planting, thinning or other intermediate cuts, hardwood control, prescribed burns, and boundary line maintenance.

Forest management plans are best prepared by trained foresters who can inspect the land and then give experienced professional advice on what management practices are best suited to the individual tracts. The Forestry Commission can provide you with a free plan for your timber acres. In the private sector, consulting foresters are available for hire.

Give us a call, and let us help you develop a blueprint for greater benefits from your timber in years to come.

Federal women install officers

Adolph Delgado, deputy in the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission office, was guest speaker at a recent seventh annual installation dinner for the NSTL Bayou Chapter, Federally Employed Women.

Judy Holder, chapter president, was installing officer at the event conducted at the Blue Rose Restaurant in Pass Christian.

The dinner was preceded by an officer's champagne toast hosted by Norma Favre, incoming president.

Other officers installed were, Kathleen Jackson, first vice president; Portia Harris, second vice president; Margo Frommeyer, recording secretary; Dot Ladner, corresponding secretary; and Dewey Little, treasurer. A cocktail hour for the members followed the dinner.

Ochsner group, Clinic to participate in cancer program

The National Cancer Institute reports it has chosen the Ochsner Medical Institutions as the only Gulf South participant in a nationwide program designed to speed newly developed treatment techniques to cancer patients.

The new Community Clinical Oncology Program (CCOP) creates a direct link between medical researchers at the national or regional level and distinguished clinicians at the community level. The program marks a major departure from the traditional federal practice of concentrating its grants and efforts almost exclusively in research centers.

Under the CCOP program, top-flight cancer treatment centers in 59 CCOP cities around the nation will be provided details of the latest findings and techniques from major research centers for appraisal and application.

Most of the centers chosen as charter participants in the program are in the major population centers of the East Coast, Midwest and Far West.

Ochsner cancer specialists who sought and won CCOP status for the New Orleans medical complex say the program constitutes the National Cancer Institute's response to two major realities about the actual treatment of cancer.

"The first reality is that a vast majority of cancer patients — more than 80 percent of them — are treated by physicians in or near their own communities," said Dr. Carl Kardinal, who will head the Ochsner CCOP program. "Only a smaller percentage will be treated at the major research institutions."

"The second is that in the last ten years a large number of cancer specialists with strong backgrounds in research have been opting for clinical careers. That means there are a number of doctors engaged in the day-to-day treatment of cancer patients who are fully qualified to understand, critique and apply new treatment protocols in a way that benefits both the patient and the researcher."

"The research process isn't a one-way street," added Dr. Bernard Ferrari, director of the Ochsner Cancer Institute.

"Results in the laboratory — or even in a very small patient population — can tell us only a limited amount about the ultimate success of a mode of treatment in clinical experience.

Those of us involved directly in the treatment of patients make discoveries that can affect the research process in very much the same way that research alters our mode of treatment."

One aim of the CCOP program will be to provide researchers with a much larger statistical base through which to determine the effectiveness of new protocols.

The Ochsner-based CCOP will draw its candidates for participation in the new treatment techniques not only from its own patient population but from those of the Baton Rouge Clinic in Baton Rouge and the South Louisiana Medical Center in Houma, La. and the Hattiesburg Clinic in Hattiesburg.

Among them, the four clinics expect to see 2,800 new cancer cases per year in the first four years of the CCOP program, of whom perhaps 700 would be prospects for participation in the program.

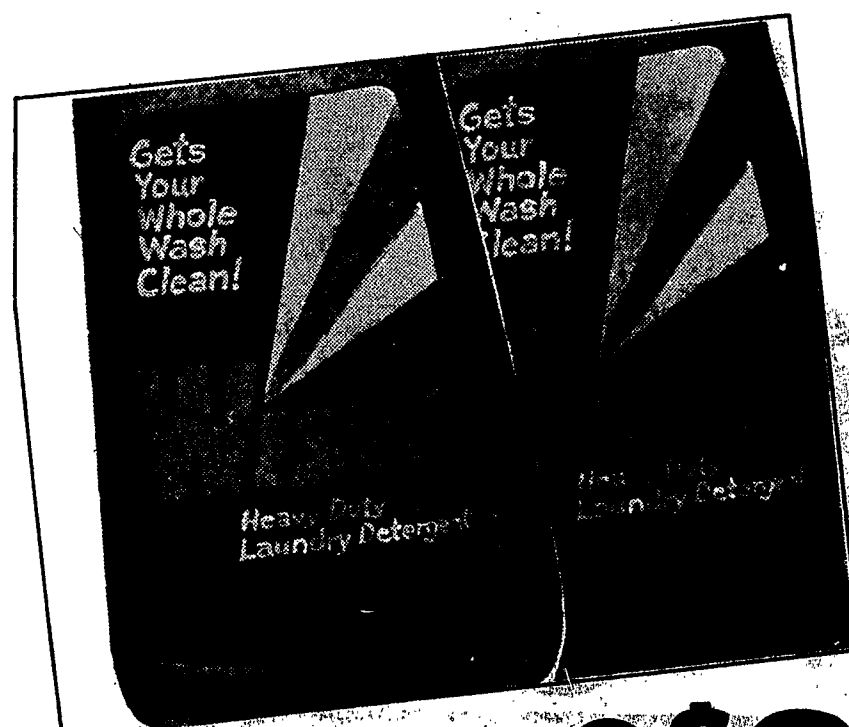

Ochsner clinicians and those of the three satellite clinics will be working primarily with researchers at the Comprehensive Cancer Center at the University of Alabama and the Southeastern Cancer Study Group. Ochsner will receive $74,210 in its initial year of participation in CCOP.

Fayard, Turan married at St. Clare

MR. AND MRS. SCOTT GERARD FAYARD

St. Clare Catholic Church in Waveland was the setting for the June 11 Nuptial Mass uniting Deborah Catherine Turan and Scott Gerard Fayard in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Turan of Waveland. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Fayard Jr., also of Waveland.

Rev. William Voller, pastor, officiated at the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony. Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Mildred Means of Waveland, organist, and Mrs. Lucille Harrington of Biloxi, vocalist.

Standing baskets of white gladioli, daisy poms, white rovers and blue carnations and palm greenery decorated the sanctuary.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white chiffon over bridal taffeta, featuring empire styling and Queen Anne neckline. The bodice was enhanced with beaded venise lace and bands of lace encircled the bell-shaped long sleeves. The gently flared skirt was bordered with lace above a self-ruffle and had a chapel sweep train. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion generously applied with venise lace, held by a lace cap outlined with silk flowers.

She carried a trailing cascade of white silk roses, miniature white carnations, blossom sprays, baby's breath and plumosa fern interspersed with seed pearls. Angela Peterson of Bay St. Louis attended the bride as matron of honor. Cindy Peterson of Clermont Harbor was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Melissa Henley and Tina Piazza of Bay St. Louis. The attendants wore formal gowns of romance blue chiffon over taffeta fashioned with shirred portrait necklines on fitted bodices, full, flared skirts with ruffled hemlines which were bustled at the back.

They carried cascades of white silk roses, blue blossom sprays, baby's breath and plumosa fern and wore hairpieces of baby's breath and blue blossom spray.

Elizabeth Foley of Long Beach, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a medium blue polished cotton dress topped with a lace trimmed eyelet pinafore. She carried a basket of silk flowers and wore a wreath of baby's breath.

Kirk Ladner of Bay St. Louis served as best man.

Groomsmen were Ricky Johnson and Eddie Fayard, brother of the groom, of New Orleans, and Ricky Bourgeois of Waveland.

Ricky Foley of Long Beach, brother of the bride, was usher. Ring bearer was Jason Worrel of Waveland, nephew of the groom.

Mrs. Turan chose for her daughter's wedding a formal chiffon gown in a soft peachy beige with tucked bodice, tiny covered buttons and ruching at the neckline and wrists, flared skirt and self-sash at the waist.

The mother of the groom chose for the occasion a mint green silesta gown featuring A-line styling with green chiffon print overlay.

A reception followed the ceremony at St. Clare Parish Hall. Floral arrangements in blue and white decorated the serving tables.

Mrs. Ricky Foley of Long Beach, sister-in-law of the bride, attended the guest register. Rice bags were distributed by Michele Ladner and Brandy Davis, nieces of the bride.

For traveling to Lake Martin, Ala., the bride chose a yellow and white tiny check dress with white trim and white accessories and a yellow and white miniature rose corsage.

The couple will reside in Waveland.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Dayling and daughter Cathy of Parma Heights, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Rookis and Mrs. Elise Woodall of Birmingham, Ala.; Susie Erhard of Orlando, Fla.

and many others from Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi.

PRE-NUPTIAL PARTIES

A surprise miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Mrs. Joyce Peterson of Clermont Harbor. Hostesses were Cindy Peterson, Angela Peterson, Melissa Henley and Tina Piazza, members of the wedding party.

The Bay St. Louis home of Mrs. Janelle Kern was the setting for a bridal shower hosted by Marion Laurent, Rosie Watson and Mrs. Kern.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fayard entertained with a rehearsal supper in their home on the eve of the wedding.

Evans, Holifield wed in Taylorsville

Janet Anell Holifield and Scott Alexander Evans were married the evening of May 21 in First Baptist Church, Taylorsville.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer W. Holifield of Taylorsville and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Evans Jr., of Bay St. Louis.

Dr. Hueston Adkins performed the ceremony and Dr. James T. Bryant assisted. Brass candelabras flanked with ferns and palms formed the background.

Presenting music were Mrs. Jane Mayfield, organist; Mrs. Rose Mary Myrick, pianist; Dianne Evans and Mr. Wilmer Holifield, soloists. Mr. Holifield, the bride's father, sang "Sunrise Sunset." Miss Evans sang "What a Difference You've Made in My Life," "My Tribute," and "No One Else," which was a trio sung by Miss Evans, Robbie and Danny Myrick, first cousins of the bride.

The bride entered on the arm of her father in a designer's gown of pearl white imported silks and French Alencon laces. The fitted bodice of re-embroidered lace was designed with a Queen Anne neckline and full, lace trimmed sleeves, held taut by deep lace cuffs which were buttoned at the wrists. The soft flowing skirt fell from a sculptured, lifted line, enveloping into a cathedral length train which formed a fan of lace that was caught beneath the traditionally buttoned back. She wore cathedral veils of silk illusion, elaborately scrolled with Brussels and re-embroidered Alencon laces held by a princess bonnet of the re-embroidered laces.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white bridal roses, gardenias, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mrs. Lelia Beckman of Starkville served as matron of honor, and Bernardine Howell of Mize served as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Lisa Eaton of Taylorsville; Cathy Evans, sister of the groom, of Bay St. Louis; Melissa Watts of Hattiesburg; Burnie Jo Ewell of Vicksburg; Perilyn Guernsey of Baton Rouge, La.; and Mrs. Rena Benefield of Chicago, Ill.

The attendants wore gowns of plum taffeta, dramatically accented with large crushed bows on the shoulders. The sleeves were tucked and the necklines squared. Princess lines ended in deep flounces and taffeta bows.

Mr. Evans served as his son's best man.

Groomsmen were Tom Evans of Metairie, La., brother of the groom; Warren Holifield of Taylorsville, Ms. brother of the bride; Brett Beckman of Starkville; Billy Williams and Doug Williams both of Clinton; Ivan Cobb of Bay St. Louis; and Ray Bryan of San Antonio, Tex.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a three-piece mauve ensemble fashioned with full taffeta skirt, lace camisole and matching jacket.

Mrs. Evans chose for her son's wedding a periwinkle blue gown featuring fitted bodice and pleated skirt, complemented with a wide sash at the waist and matching ruching at the neckline and wrists of the long, tapered sleeves.

A poolside reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Assisting were Mrs. Susan Williams, Mrs. Caren Williams, Ginny Sanders, Laurie White, Terri Hunt, Pat Brown, Shelia McInnis, Susan Keene, Katie Easton, Suzanne Yelverton, Judy Harrison, Debbie Arnold, Lynda Arnold, Alecia McKinley and Stacy Bryant. Justin Boykin, Tom Brown, Joshua Shoemaker and Betsy Brown handed out bird seed baskets to the guests.

After a honeymoon cruise to the Bahamas, the couple will reside in Lafayette, La.

MRS. SCOTT ALEXANDER EVANS

Candlelight vows unite Cuevas, Ladner

Terri Denise Ladner became the bride of John Carlos Cuevas in an evening ceremony June 10 at St. Matthew the Apostle Catholic Church in White Cypress.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland W. Ladner of Necaise Crossing. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hilden L. Cuevas, also of Necaise Crossing.

Rev. George Kitchen celebrated a Nuptial Mass and officiated at the candlelight ceremony.

Baskets of white and lavender gladioli, carnations and greenery provided decorations in the sanctuary, while candles lined the aisle.

Paula Faye Necaise of Crane Creek presented a program of musical selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white Wedgewood lace, point d'esprit and venise laces over bridal taffeta. The bodice of point d'esprit featured double appliques of venise lace and a Queen Anne neckline. The full bouffant skirt and cathedral train were fashioned of Wedgewood lace. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion bordered with lace and held in place by a cap of double applique, venise lace in a flower petal effect.

She carried a nosegay of white silk roses, stephanotis, lily-of-the-valley and lavender sweetheart roses with satin ribbon streamers.

Lana Ladner of Necaise Crossing attended her sister as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Sandra Ladner of Necaise Crossing, sister of the groom; Sharon Ladner of Pass Christian, cousin of the bride; Tracey Ladner of Rocky Hill and Michelle Necaise of Leetown, cousins of the groom; Bridget Ladner and Tammy Buchanan of Necaise Crossing.

The attendants were identically attired in bouffant gowns of lavender chiffon featuring portrait necklines outlined with ruffled white lace, lace edged puffed sleeves and deep lace flounces at the hemlines. They wore lavender hats with illusion bows and streamers at the back and carried silk nosegays in progressive shades of lavender with lace and satin ribbon.

Jan Ladner of Necaise Crossing, sister of the bride, and Chesaka Cuevas of Pass Christian, cousin of the bride, were flower girls.

Robin Ladner of Pass Christian, cousin of the bride, was miniature bride. Kendall Ladner of Necaise Crossing, cousin of the groom, was miniature groom.

Kevin Nunn of Henleyfield served as best man.

Groomsmen were Troy Ladner, brother-in-law of the groom, Vernon Dale Ladner, cousin of the bride, Brunus Cuevas, cousin of the groom, and Craig Ladner, brother of the bride, all of Necaise Crossing; Timmy Ladner of White Cypress and Michael Cuevas of Dedeaux, cousins of the groom.

Ushers were Judge Vernon Ladner of Pass Christian and Clifford Ladner of Gulfport, uncles of the bride.

Shea Ladner of Wichita Falls, Tex., cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a mauve sunburst pleated silesta gown with empire styling, lace bodice and capelet sleeves. The mother of the groom was attired in a gown of rosebud silesta with crystal pleated skirt and chiffon overlay on the bodice in a cape effect. Orchid corsages completed their ensembles.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Kila Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall.

Pulizzanos celebrate golden anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pulizzano Sr. of Bay St. Louis celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on June 25. The couple renewed their wedding vows at Our Lady of the Gulf Church, the same church they were married in fifty years ago.

Brother Carl Evans S.C. celebrated the Nuptial Mass. The couple's three children, J. V. Pulizzano, Henry Pulizzano and Mrs. Margaret Moran, participated in the readings.

Christopher Ybos, eucharistic minister, and godchild of the couple served Communion and assisted Brother Evans.

Mrs. Katie Pulizzano was attired in a tea-length gown of dusty rose chiffon. The high neckline, bodice, and sleeves featured over-laid embroidery with a sheer organza yoke front and back. A candlelight orchid corsage accented the gown.

The original attendants were Mrs. Edith Pernicaro, Miss Francis Faucetta, and Tony Morreale. Charles Scianca stood in for his brother, the late Steve Faucetta.

A reception was hosted by their children and spouses, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Pulizzano of Metairie, La.; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Moran of Lakeshore; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pulizzano of Denham Springs, La. at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Bay St. Louis. More than 200 guests attended.

The four-tier candlelight cake with a scallop base, spun sugar lace and roses was topped with a candlelight and dusty rose silk flower arrangement.

Special guest was mother of Mrs. Pulizzano, Mrs. Dominica Pernicaro. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pulizzano and daughter Debbie from Chicago, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Dellinger and daughter Barbara from Plantation, Fla.

Take advantage of summer melons, specialist advises

By ANNO O. RUSHING
Marketing Specialist

Melons are great for summer desserts, salads or snacks. Several choices are available now and on through the fall season.

By the pound, whole watermelons and cantaloupes cost least from displays of whole unchilled melons. For one or two people, however, a cut melon may be a better choice even at a higher cost per pound.

Sweetest-flavored cantaloupes are pulled from vines after the melons are ripe; so, a smooth stem end is a point to look for when you buy one. Look also for coarse, corky, outstanding netting covering the rind of the melon.

The background color should have gray-green or yellow cast. Remember also that a ripe cantaloupe smells fragrant. Pass up flabby melons and those with bruised or watery spots.

Outside appearance of an uncut watermelon gives partial clues to its inner quality, but there's no foolproof set of buyer's guides. Watermelons are members of the cucumber family, and those with gray-green rinds have a greater tendency to taste like cucumbers than solid green or green-striped melons.

A velvety bloom on the surface of a well-rounded watermelon is one indication of its ripeness. A melon with a shiny surface is likely to be underripe, while a dull surface may be overripe. The undersides of ripe July to September melons are creamy color.

When you thump or slap, that results in a hollow sound helps some experienced purchasers to be sure that a melon is ripe. Overripe melons also sound hollow.

Melon handlers sometimes look for a slight bulge in the center of the melon, which supposedly develops when the melon reaches the ripe stage. This, like other tests for quality of uncut melons, works part of the time.

It's fairly easy to choose a good cut watermelon by its looks. In either red or yellow-meated melons, look for firm, juicy flesh with a deep color, free of white streaks.

Pass up cut melons with pale-colored flesh, white heart, light colored seeds, or a dry, mealy, stringy look.

Select a honeydew melon that is oval shaped with creamy white skin that has the feel of velvet. The meat of a cut melon is pale green in color and delightfully sweet.

Persian, cranshaw, and casaba melons are lesser-known varieties of muskmelon. Persian melons look like huge cantaloupes, except that they are ripe when their rinds have fine grey netting over green.

The 4- to 7-pound casaba is globular in shape, with the stem end slightly pointed. When ripe, they have deeply furrowed, butter yellow rinds with creamy white meat and little aroma.

The cranshaw, a cross between the Persian and casaba, has a thin, fragile green rind splashed with gold. On the blossom end, the stem is decidedly pointed. Its meat is pink orange, almost spicy, and full of aroma.

The Santa Claus melon is a winter casaba, sometimes available from November to December.

Melon quality is hard to judge, quick to flee, and almost defies preservation. While melons may be frozen in sugar syrup, their thawed flavor and texture fall far short of fresh melon.

Pickled, spiced, or preserved, they're acceptable to some people but favorite of few.

Whole watermelons, if they're not overripe when you buy them, keep good quality at cool room temperature for several days.

Honeydews, cantaloupes and cranshaws often improve in texture when left at cool room temperature for two to four days after purchase.

During this time, firm cantaloupes and cranshaws develop a softer texture and are ready to chill for serving. Honeydews may be chilled for serving, but honeydew flavor is more pronounced when it is served at cool room temperature.

Uncut muskmelons fare better in long-term refrigeration than uncut watermelons, which partially explains the peculiarities we sometimes find in watermelons that are purchased from cold storage. Long-term cold storage of uncut watermelons caused pitted rinds and soft spots in the meat.

In frost-free refrigerators, all fresh foods need to be protected from moisture loss, but extra care is needed for melons to keep their penetrating odor from flavoring other foods.

A closed plastic bag is adequate for uncut muskmelons, but cut ones should be peeled, sliced and placed in an airtight jar or refrigerator container.

Put watermelon, peeled and sealed in a large refrigerator container, keeps good quality for as long as a week.

Seibert, Nichols exchange vows

The marriage of Nevelyn Marie Nichols and Joseph George Seibert was solemnized June 4 in a 3 p.m. ceremony at the bride's home, 706 Spanish Acres Drive in Bay St. Louis, with Judge Bruce Necaise officiating.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Edythe Wilhelm, organist, and "Lori" vocalist, of Meroux, La.

The bride was attired in a blossom pink two-piece dress of silk chiffon. The overblouse featured capelet sleeves and was embellished with iridescent sequins and crystal beading. She carried a cascade of pink and yellow silk rosebuds, daisies, tiger lilies and lily-of-the-valley with pearls and satin streamers.

Attendants for the couple included two sons of the bride, David and Kim Nichols of Shreveport, La. and Mitch Nichols and his fiancée Cindy Cook of Dallas, Tex.; and daughters of the groom, Mrs. Harvey Choina of Gentilly, La.; Mr. and Mrs. William Ello III of Metairie, La. and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mike Seibert of Waveland. Four grandchildren also attended the couple.

Arrangements of pink and yellow roses, gladioli, carnations and baby's breath decorated the serving tables and reception area, which included the home, patio and garden. Baskets of Swedish ivy, potted palms and a white hanging macrame containing wicker wedding bells and cascading pink and yellow roses formed the background.

The bride's table was covered with a blossom pink cloth embroidered with pink and yellow satin rosebuds made by the bride.

Assisting at the reception were Margaret Manerian, Lois Fallo and Emma Powell. The wedding cake was cut by Lucille Witter and the groom's cake by Melanie Mitchell. Eunice Revere kept the guest register.

For traveling to the Great Smoky Mountains, Gatlinburg, Tenn., the bride chose a black and white ruffled cotton dress accented with a white orchid. The couple will reside in Bay St. Louis.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cook of Dallas, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dowdy of Hattiesburg;

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherbondy of Jefferson, La.; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Ello Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Brue of Metairie, La.

DAR members tour Ship Island

By JOE PILET

Ed Fayard of the Fayard Moving and Transportation Company was host recently entertaining members of the Friendship Oak Chapter National Society Daughters of the American Revolution aboard his 84 foot, 84 ton yacht, the Frances Fayard.

The group left the Gulfport Harbor in early afternoon and arrived at Ship Island for a guided tour of the historic Fort Massachusetts.

Mrs. Philip Davenport, who serves as historian for the chapter said, "We are most fortunate to have an opportunity to study together this interesting fort which was designed by Jefferson Davis in 1858, Union forces captured the fort and used it as a prison until the end of the civil war."

Fayard's yacht has carried both large and small parties to Ship Island through the years and he says it is always a pleasure to make it possible for friends, civic groups, and occasionally tourist to learn more about this area which is now included in the National Register of Historic Places.

He said he issued an invitation to the DAR group after he learned of their interest in preserving local history.

The history of Ship Island began in 1699 when it served as a base of operations for establishing Fort Maurepas—the first French Capital of the lower Mississippi Valley. The island offered excellent anchorage. Also it afforded the only deep water channel from the Gulf of Mexico into the Mississippi Sound.

Milestones in the history of Ship Island are numerous: The island served as a U.S. Military reservation, as a quarantine station, as a light house, as a coaling and ship repair station for ships of Admiral David Farragut when he was operating against the Confederate forts guarding the mouth of the Mississippi River.

Hurricanes also have taken a toll after hurricane Betsy in 1965 a protective seawall was erected—the fort survived hurricane Camille, however the island was cut into three sections. On January 9, 1971 the island became a part of Gulf Island National Seashore.

On the return trip from the island to the Gulfport harbor the group enjoyed a picnic type of supper and their regent, Beth Elkins, held a brief business meeting to inform the daughters of the progress being made toward the printing of the yearbook.

Some committee heads were named, including Shirley Davenport, as lineage research chair person; Joe Pilet as parliamentarian; and Marjory Gemmel who heads the by-laws committee. Programs for the year were also discussed and hostesses named.

The next regular meeting of the chapter will be held in September with Susie Walker of Diamondhead as hostess.

Money Talk

By Norine Barnes

If you want to invest in gold, does it make sense to buy or sell gold jewelry? Maybe not, because a piece of gold jewelry is probably worth more intact than the bullion value of the precious metal it contains.

Many consumers who don't have a clear understanding of gold trading, but who want to get in on the action anyway, are buying or selling gold necklaces, chains, pins, pendants, rings, etc. You may be able to get more than you paid for gold jewelry purchased long ago, but buying and selling gold jewelry for investment in today's market may be a mistake for several reasons.

First, consumers frequently do not understand the terms used to describe gold products. One misunderstood term is "karat." It is generally necessary to mix (alloy) gold with other base metals to enhance its capacity to be fashioned into jewelry.

The "karat" marking will tell you what percentage of gold is mixed with the other metals. A "karat" describes a degree of purity equal to 1/24 pure gold. The designation "10 karat gold" indicates a gold alloy of 10/24 or 42% gold. "18 karat gold" is 18/24 or 75% gold.

Another term that gives consumers problems is "solid gold." "Solid gold" is not the same thing as "pure" (24 karat) gold. The term "solid gold" means only that the inside of the object is not hollow. Solid gold is generally a mixture of pure gold and base metal, and you still have to look to the karat rating to determine the purity (and value).

The knowledgeable buyer, therefore, knows that a 14 karat gold ring—even if it's called "solid gold"—actually contains only 58% gold.

"Gold-plated" or "gold-filled" products do not contain enough gold to justify refining them for gold content. These products have a thin layer of gold on top of some other metal. They are usually refined only in very large quantities.

CHILD CARE CENTER—Formal opening ceremonies of a new child care center at the Seabee Center in Gulfport were conducted Tuesday. The new 5,040 square foot facility, constructed by J.O. Collins Contractor, Inc., of Biloxi, includes an additional 7,000-foot fenced playground area. The facility will provide full day-care for children of working mothers as well as drop-in service. Services will be provided Monday through Friday for children six months to 12 years.

Growing Child

PORTABLE PLAYGROUND

Here are some suggestions for inexpensive, portable playground equipment from Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter.

Equipment for climbing - Ladders. Conventional house ladders (3,4, or 5 feet long by 14 inches wide) of metal, wood, or rope.

Boxes. Sturdy cardboard packing cases from appliances can be sanded and painted to make them more weatherproof. Given an assortment of boxes, children will be ingenious and creative in their construction of structures to climb into, over, around, and under.

Incline boards. Old doors and drawers may be placed against the side of the house and securely anchored. They make excellent devices for learning balance.

Equipment for swinging - Tire swing. Attach an old automobile tire to a 1" diameter rope and hang from tree or crossbar. Punch holes in the bottom of the tire to permit the rainwater to drain.

Log swing. Attach two ropes to a log which will serve as the seat. Hang from tree or bar.

Sack swing. Fill a burlap bag with sawdust. Secure top of sack with rope and hang from tree limb or bar.

Equipment for jumping - Bedsprings. Cover an old set of bedsprings or a mattress with old bed pads or quilts and dark-colored canvas. Attach two straps to hang from the ceiling when not in use.

Poles. Saw logs two feet long from telephone poles. They can be used to roll, to stand on, to jump down from, or to jump from one to the other.

Equipment for punching and kicking - Laundry or duffel bag. Fill with wood shavings or styrofoam packing material, paper, or rags and hang from a tree limb or door jamb by a rope. Adjust height for punching and kicking. Variation: Suspend a stuffed pillow or pair of blue jeans from a rope.

Cans. Save cans with tight snap on lids and fill with sand, pebbles, or water.

Equipment for throwing and targets - Ball, beanbags or sandbags. Fill different-sized bags with beans or sand.

Targets. Cut hole in an old sheet or bedspread. Hang on clothesline or suspend from a tree limb. Box targets can be made by cutting holes in a wood or paper carton and putting on the ground or hanging from a limb.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information and a free sample copy of the newsletter, write Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing.

By Dr. Dennis Tosh

In some cases, the investor also charges a monthly "rent" for the use of the down payment money. Often, the investor pays a portion of the monthly loan payments which are reimbursed in the form of rent by the new homeowner.

By sharing in expenses, the investor may deduct a portion of the home's value as depreciation, as well as deduct interest and property tax expenses.

HELP FROM A RICH UNCLE QUESTION: Even though interest rates have come down in recent weeks, we still are having trouble finding a home due to the high initial downpayment requirements. I recently heard of a "rich uncle" program being offered by a mortgage company and wondered exactly what the term means. Are there really rich uncles making real estate loans? J.F., Tupelo

ANSWER: Dear J.F.: Like you, many first-time homebuyers wish they had a rich uncle to help them out with the down payment.

As you have indicated, the amount needed in cash by those people purchasing their first home is usually greater than what has been set aside. In today's creative financing market, people who wish they had a rich uncle may have their wish come true.

Several real estate mortgage companies throughout the United States have instituted what they refer to as a "rich uncle" program under

Trichinosis organisms can survive in microwave

Trichinae, the nematode worms that cause trichinosis in humans, apparently can survive recommended microwave cooking methods.

A study at Iowa State University has shown that the organisms can survive after a pork roast is cooked according to recommendations approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and several meat industry groups.

Dr. Charles Shannon, food technologist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, explained that not all microwave ovens cook evenly.

"Microwaves just don't cook that evenly," Shannon said. "Pork should be cooked until it reaches 150 degrees F or until the meat turns white, whichever takes longer, and microwave ovens don't always do that evenly."

Shannon suggested rotating pork cooked in a microwave oven, cooking it for a while and then turning it and cooking it some more, repeating the process a few times until the meat is done.

He also said any pinkness in pork should be interpreted as a sign that the pork is not done sufficiently.

ASCS NEWS

REPORT PLANTINGS

Farmers are reminded that July 15 is the final date for certifying 1983 planted acreages of spring seeded crops to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

prior to July 5 because of excess moisture conditions may sign a 20-day late planting agreement, which permits insurance coverage, but provides for a lower guarantee due to the late planting.

Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS Office, said that participants in the Acreage Reduction Program (ARP) and Payment-In-Kind (PIK) Program are required to certify their planted acreage. He said that nonparticipants are urged to certify their planted crop acreages for record purpose for future programs.

Gennin stated that spring seeded program crops are rice, corn, and grain sorghum. He also pointed out that certifications are being taken on soybeans this year. Although soybeans is not a program crop this year under the ARP and PIK program, it is important for all farmers to report their soybean acreages. This planted acreage record will be important to farmers in event a program for soybeans is put into effect in the future.

Farmers who have questions concerning crop certification should contact their local ASCS office.

FINAL DATE July 5 is the final planting date for insured grain sorghum and soybeans.

Acres of grain sorghum and soybeans planted by July 5, insured by FCIC (or by a private company reinsured by FCIC), must be reported by July 15 to receive full crop insurance coverage.

Agreement planted after July 5 also must be reported on the July 15 acreage report (in the "remarks" section) as being planted too late for insurance. Farmers unable to plant

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

By Shawn Murphy

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

This concept may not be new to you. Nevertheless, I find it extremely exciting! And I hope that you will find it beneficial as you endeavor to live the 'abundant life' that Jesus offers.

Have you ever made the statement that, "I'm going to worship," or "At our church we have worship three times a week." I don't mind saying that I've made similar statements on many occasions.

The problem is that each of these statements indicates a narrow, limited, incomplete view of what worship truly is! That is limited as to time, location, and avenue.

In John 4:21 and following Jesus said to the Samaritan woman:

"A time is coming when you will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem... Yet a time is coming and is come when the true worshippers will worship the Father in spirit and truth, for they are the kinds of worshippers the Father seeks."

Now I obviously don't know everything that Jesus was trying to get across in those words. But I do know at least part of what He was saying.

He was saying that while a certain location was important under the old law (namely Jerusalem) for worship, that the time had come that location would not matter! In other words worship under the old covenant was tied to a physical location. Jesus came along and said:

"True worshippers will worship God in spirit and truth," as opposed to physical limitations!

And so here we come along 2000 years after the fact and limit the true concept of worship to three or four hours of worship services during the week! What we have done then is just digress to a lower, more limited concept of worship than they even had under the old law!

Did you know that of all the words translated worship, of which there are several, that only one is worship applied to what goes on in the actual assembly? Only one time which leaves hundreds of other activities outside of what we do in the assembly to be worship as well!

Without going into great detail, the New Testament concept is a simple one! Anything that you or I do with respect to God's glory, in keeping with His true nature, as well as His teachings, offered from the heart is worship!

In other words, worship is not confined to something which is done inside the four walls of a church building!

Perhaps the best passage that I could leave with you on this idea is from Paul's letter to the church in Colossae. In Colossians 3:17 Paul encouraged them and us,

"And whatever you do, whether in word or deed, do it all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through Him."

Let me bring the lesson home this way. When you take chicken soup to your neighbor who is sick, you are worshipping God! (That is, provided you do it for the purpose of bringing glory to God.) When you take care of your family's needs, whether it be cleaning house or changing diapers, if you do it out of devotion to God, then you are worshipping God through your actions!

Hopefully, you are familiar with the Biblical concept that all Christians are priests (compare 1 Peter 2:9). In Hebrews 13:15,16 the Hebrew writer says,

"Through Jesus, therefore, let us continually offer to God a sacrifice of praise - the fruit of lips that confess his name. And do not forget to do good and share with others, for with such sacrifices God is pleased."

So worship then is hopefully more than something which is a one, two or three hour a week christian activity. Rather, it is the never-ending occupation of the born again believer!

Remember the words of Jesus:

"True worshippers will worship the Father in spirit and in truth, for they are the kind of worshippers the Father seeks!"

WORD of GOD

The Way - Step #1
Jesus said:

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved.

John 3:16-17

Medical Assistants hear cardiologist

The Coast Counties Chapter of the American Association of Medical Assistants held its monthly meeting at the Western Sizzlin Steakhouse in Gulfport on Tuesday, June 28.

Guest speaker was Cardiologist Dr. William Hill who spoke on "Facemakers."

A native of Nashville, Tenn., Hill received his MD and PhD degrees from Tulane University, completed his residency at Ochsner Foundation Hospital and a fellowship in cardiology at Tulane.

He has been on the Coast since 1980 and is in private practice in Gulfport. Jeffrey Gregory, a recent graduate of Ocean Springs High School and recipient of Coast Counties Chapter's scholarship award, was also an honored guest.

Gregory will be attending Mississippi State University and plans to pursue a career as a heart surgeon.

Program Chairperson Mary Vette announced that the chapter will be guest of Memorial Hospital in Gulfport Thursday, July 28, replacing the regular July meeting.

For if you forgive men when they sin against you, your heavenly Father will also forgive you. But if you do not forgive men their sins, your Father will not forgive your sins.

Fourth of July planting produces Halloween bounty

BY MILO BURNHAM
Horticulturist

Early July is the time to plant pumpkins for Halloween. This is also the recommended time for planting all types of storage or winter squash.

Most varieties of these vegetables take a lot of space so gardeners with only limited garden space need to be selective about what they plant. All the varieties of pumpkins grow vines that can take over a small garden. It's not an uncommon experience to have pumpkin vines 20 feet long and still growing.

One year I grew a variety called Big Moon that was reported to get as large as 200 pounds. My vines produced two pumpkins, the largest only 90 pounds, but the vines with their washtub sized leaves took over the garden. Most gardeners, while curious about oddities in the vegetable world such as 200 pound pumpkins, stick to the more conventional varieties.

The pumpkin variety most frequently seen at Halloween is Connecticut Field. This variety makes big pumpkins that are ideal for carving.

There are also many other varieties that gardeners may want to try. Spirit is an All America Selection and a hybrid. The fruit are a little smaller than Connecticut Field and weigh about 15 pounds. The color is bright orange and the fruit have a good shape for carving.

I've grown this variety several times and found the pumpkins to be excellent keepers.

Pumpkins harvested in October made excellent fall decorations and since I didn't let the kids cut all of them, they were still in the house at Christmas to clash with all that red. I still had good-looking pumpkins in February for Valentine's Day and in March for Saint Patrick's Day.

Other good varieties are Funny Face Hybrid and Jack O'Lantern. Funny Face has shorter vines than many varieties so it is better adapted to gardens with limited space. Jack O'Lantern makes a smaller pumpkin than Connecticut Field and Spirit but it's still good for carving.

Gardeners who are fond of eating pumpkin seeds may want to try one of the first varieties featuring hullless seeds.

Lady Godiva was one of the first varieties featuring hullless seeds. Unfortunately, the pumpkins lack a good orange color so they are not really suited for carving.

Burpee has a variety called Triple Treat. The six to eight pound pumpkins are orange, the seeds are hullless and the flesh is fine for pies.

One variety frequently seen is Big Max. The pumpkins are very large but the color is reddish orange rather than a bright orange. The variety is grown because of the large size. The pumpkins are kind of warty and lack the definite ribbing normally associated with pumpkins.

Most varieties of pumpkins need from 90 to 110 days from planting until harvest. Pumpkins do best in a fertile soil that is only slightly acid (pH 6.0 to 6.5).

Because the vines grow so rapidly and the pumpkins are mostly water, it is crucial to success that water be available.

Plant the seed in groups of five with the groups spaced about six feet apart. Give the plants plenty of space to run so rows should be about 10 feet apart. Distances can be reduced for the shorter vining types.

Cover the seed with one-half inch of soil. When the seeds germinate, thin the groups to two plants by removing the weakest plants. When the vines begin their rapid growth (to run), apply a small amount of nitrogen fertilizer several inches from the base of the plants.

Insects are likely to be a problem. Squash bugs and stink bugs in particular are problems so you must follow a regular spray program with sevin or thiodan. Two diseases to watch for are powdery and downy mildew.

The vines should begin to bloom and set fruit in August. Remember, pumpkins have separate male and female blooms and bees do the pollinating.

The vines will produce many male blooms (the ones with thin stems) for each female bloom (the one with the small pumpkin). While I haven't tried it, I've been told that the male blooms can be picked in the early morning, washed, dipped in fritter batter and deep fried.

Once the young pumpkins are developing, you can attempt to limit vine growth by pinching out the growing tips. This should slow down the vines and keep them from taking over the whole garden. Be sure you have small pumpkins before pinching the vines.

Pumpkins are ready to harvest when the fruit is completely orange and the stem has begun to lose some of its green color. Cut the pumpkin from the vine rather than pulling it. All too frequently, the stem will stay with the plant when a pumpkin is pulled and this gives you a Jack O'Lantern without a handle on the lid.

Once harvested, keep the pumpkin out of the sun and in a cool, dry place. Do not stack pumpkins for storage because they will rot.

Make a part of your 4th of July celebration planting pumpkins and come October you'll have Jack O'Lanterns, pies and delicious and nutritious seed for eating.

Atlanta edifice dedicated, closed to public

Worthy Mormons to begin

By PATTY BALDREE

The newly-completed Atlanta Temple of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be open to Latter-day Saints in this area for the performance of temple ordinances beginning Tuesday.

This opening will bring to a conclusion a series of firsts for the Church in the South.

The temple, which includes the Gulfport Stake and Waveland Ward in its jurisdiction, is the first built in the South.

The edifice was opened for public tours May 3-21 with a special media and VIP preview hosted by Elder Vaughn J. Featherstone of the First Quorum of the Seventy who held on May 2.

More than 60,000 people toured the facility during this three-week open house.

On June 1, the temple was formally dedicated. President Gordon B. Hinckley, second counselor in the First Presidency of The Church, presided at the dedicatory services and offered the dedicatory prayer.

To accommodate the more than 12,000 members wishing to participate in the ceremony, ten additional services were held during the four-day period of June 1-4.

President Hinckley spoke of the completion of this edifice as being a dream realized by many of the 160,000 members who reside in the new temple district.

He said, "This is a day for which you have lived, for which you have prayed, for which many of you have sacrificed and for which we thank the Lord."

"To the Latter-day Saint who will have the privilege of entering these portals, this building will represent a visible, tangible expression of our conviction that life is eternal, that death is not the end but only a portal through which we pass to another sphere of action," Hinckley added.

Thomas Bosley of Waveland, who serves as first counselor in the Gulfport Stake Presidency, explains the purpose of temples. "In the days of Solomon, temples played a vital part in the lives of God's chosen people. Today, temples are still an important and necessary part of the gospel plan."

"Latter-day Saint temples are open to worthy members of The Church of every kind, race and tongue and from all nations of the world today. They are houses whereby the Lord and Savior Himself may choose to come to, and reside in, as only He sees fit."

"This new temple will be us-

ATLANTA TEMPLE—The 21st operating temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will open to 'faithful, active' Mormons only this week after a period of weeks during which the edifice was open to the public. After dedication, Mormon temples are considered by members of the church to be 'Houses of The Lord,' buildings so sacred only worthy members may enter.

Temple service Tuesday

ed by the membership to perform those religious functions that we believe can only be performed within the walls of a temple dedicated for those purposes," Bosley said.

"These functions include personal covenants, eternal marriage, and proxy baptisms for our ancestors."

"In this new temple, worthy members of this area will learn of the eternal plan of God. Here they will make solemn promises to the Lord and will pledge their devotion to obeying His will and following His commandments," he added.

The 27,000 square foot building is enclosed with white Georgia marble with faceted glass panels.

A 10.5-foot gold leafed statue of an angel sits on top of the spire which rises 96 feet above floor level. The statue symbolically represents the angels of Heaven ready to sound the trumpet ushering the return of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

The richly furnished interior is of the finest materials and workmanship available today.
The highly polished woods are walnut and red oak.

The Celestial Room
chandelier is crystal and was imported from Czechoslovakia.

The sealing room mirrors are positioned to symbolically remind us of how we transcend the ages and generations.

Electronic translators can instantly translate all services into many languages in order to serve the many non-English speaking patrons who attend.

The temple is capable of accommodating over 100,000 patrons annually. It will operate five days a week (Tuesdays through Saturdays), for as many hours as necessary to service those patrons traveling to this building to perform the functions for which they come.

Located in Sandy Springs,
Georgia, a suburb of Atlanta,
this new temple will serve Latter-day Saints living in Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and Florida.

SEALING ROOM in the Atlanta Temple of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints features mirrors on opposing walls, presenting an image which symbolizes the church's concept of the eternal nature of the family. This is one of five such rooms in the temple where marriage ceremonies are performed.
In the marriage ceremony, the participants are "sealed" as husband and wife for eternity, and not merely until death.

ANGELIC MESSENGER—Framed by Dogwood blossoms on an adjacent Atlanta hillside, a golden angel—considered by many Mormons to be Maroni, the Lord's messenger to church founder Joseph Smith—graces the pinnacle of the first operating Mormon temple in the South. The temple will be open to worthy Mormons in the Waveland Ward, and Gulfport Stake as well as those from throughout Mississippi and ten other southern states. The edifice will open to church members Tuesday for practice of sacred ordinances after several weeks of public inspection, including a press tour by representatives of The Sea Coast Echo, The Times Picayune of New Orleans,
